WILL AN EVICTION AFFECT MY CREDIT?

Debts owed to landlords and eviction judgments (when the judge orders you to leave) are often reported to national credit reporting agencies. As a result, these negative items may appear in your credit report. If your credit report shows that an eviction was filed against you, it could affect whether you can get credit in the future.

Some landlords use tenant screening reports when deciding to rent a tenant. These reports can contain more information than your credit report. . These reports are put together by private companies, and usually contain a credit report, information on past evictions, and a criminal background check. Eviction lawsuits which were filed and dismissed or settled may appear on tenant screening reports.

Items can stay on your credit report for 7 years, so an eviction may be a problem if you try to rent a new apartment, or if you try to get credit.

WHAT IF A LANDLORD REFUSES TO RENT TO ME?

If a potential new landlord refuses to rent to you because of your credit history or a tenant screening report, the landlord MUST:

- (1) Notify you of the refusal;
- (2) Give you the contact information of the agency they used to run your report; and,
- (3) Let you know that you may obtain a free copy of your report from that agency within 60 days of the notice.

If your landlord refuses to rent to you because of your tenant screening report results, the landlord must notify you of the reason you were denied. You should then get a copy of the tenant screening report by contacting the company who ran the report. If there is any incorrect information, you should report it to the company, and you should also report it to your potential landlord.

HOW DO I GET MY CREDIT REPORT?

You are legally entitled to a free copy of your credit report once every 12 months. You can request your free credit report through the Annual Credit Report Request Service. You can go online to request your free credit report at: www.annualcreditreport.com, or you can call 1-877-322-8228. You will need to provide your name, address, Social Security Number, and date of birth. If you have moved in the past two years, you may have to provide your previous address. You may also have to provide information about your current or old credit accounts.

WHAT IF THERE ARE MISTAKES ON MY CREDIT REPORT?

If you find any mistakes in your credit report, you should send a letter to the credit reporting agency to notify them of the mistake. You should use the sample letter in this brochure.

You can also submit an explanation of any credit entry to the credit reporting agency. The explanation must be 100 words or less in length.
